Recovery BOX PNI

The micronutrients contained in the Recovery Box make a unique contribution to a regular psyche, a physiological nervous system and a normally functioning immune system.

The Recovery Box contains three high-quality products to support the functions of the PNI (psychoneuroimmunology):

Vitality Shot - natural multi-preparation

The Vitality Shot contains vitamins, minerals and trace elements to supplement daily requirements and support the body in its important daily functions. It contains vitamins A, B1, B2, niacin, pantothenic acid, B6, biotin, folic acid, B12, C, D3 and E as well as the minerals calcium, chromium, iron, iodine, copper, manganese, magnesium, molybdenum, selenium and zinc with the aim of achieving high bioavailability (thanks to lecithin from sunflowers). Additional ingredients: maca powder (also known as Peru ginseng), cocoa and licorice root extract. Sweetened with xylitol, which occurs naturally in birch. contains only coenzyme Q10 and soy lecithin. It does not contain a single additive or adjuvant. The capsule shell is made of HPMC and is therefore entirely of plant origin.

Turmeric Turbo - with turmeric and green tea extract

Turmeric Turbo contains turmeric mixed with black pepper (with the aim of improving absorption) and green tea extract. Turmeric root, also known as yellow ginger or turmeric, is widely used in Asia. People have valued its valuable ingredients for generations, which is why the tuber is also known as the "sacred plant of India". Turmeric contains curcumin, among other things. The green tea extract contains catechins. Green tea/matcha is also known as "green superfood". All ingredients in Turmeric Turbo come from certified organic production.

Herbal Hero - mix of six selected plants

Herbal Hero combines ingredients from six different plants to create an interesting mix. The dandelion (Taraxacum officinale) is a plant that everyone is certainly familiar with. Many people pull it out of the garden without knowing its exciting ingredients.

Grape seeds contain a high amount of OPCs (which is a shame if you buy seedless grapes or spit out the seeds). The reishi mushroom is not yet so well known in this country, but in Asian countries it has been used often and with pleasure for thousands of years. Quercetin is a widespread flavonoid in the plant kingdom that belongs to the polyphenol group of substances. In Asia, brown algae, which contain various nutrients, have long been an important part of the diet. The succulent roseroot grows in crevices in high plateaus and on sea cliffs. It contains rosavin, among other things.
